— Via Via

design Leo Aerts

Via Via is a study in movement and balance. Its form is defined by opposing curves, a subtle rounding above and below that turns in reverse directions, creating a dynamic dialogue within the stone.

Carved from solid marble, the volume appears to float. The rounded transitions lead the eye into unexpected corner curves, where strict geometry softens into something more fluid.

Precise yet playful, the table carries a quiet sensuality. The interplay of volume, line and natural stone veining creates a strong sculptural presence - a piece that firmly holds its place in the room.

Every curve invites curiosity, gently guiding the gaze toward what follows next. Via Via is not only a table, but a moment of movement captured in stone and wood.
